

Authorization to Reveal Presence in The Westin Building

It is often to the mutual advantage of The Westin Building and a tenant in the building to make it known to the public that the tenant has a presence in the Building. This information may be given to prospective tenants, posted on signs in the Building, and listed on Building marketing materials to include the building's website www.westinbldg.com.

Additionally, the management of the building asks that you refrain from soliciting in the Building. This practice disrupts other tenants and could potentially lead to security violations.
